Dear Fuzzy Friend,

Welcome!

Please stay on your leash or in a crate at all times when outside your room. We know you are a good boy or girl, but (we know this is hard to believe) some people are afraid of dogs.

We know that you are in an unfamiliar setting. This may scare you a bit and you might even make a little (or a lot) more noise than you do at home. We know you don't want to be a bother to your neighbors, so please do not let your people leave you alone in the room.

Please don't take a shower or a bath while you're here, and if you need a towel, please have your people call my people (the front desk) and we'll get you a towel of your very own.

Earthbox's pet area is located between building C & D. Please remind your people that they need to be very well-behaved and that they should pick up after you with the bags located at the entrance of the pet area.

Please do not jump on the furniture, especially the beds. If you need a blanket, please have your people ask the front desk to supply you with a pet blanket.

According to Washington State Health code, you are not allowed in the pool house or on the poolside patio. Bummer, you'd look so cute with your swimsuit on.

If you cause a disturbance which leads to loss of revenue for the Inn, your people will be held responsible for the recovery of such lost revenue and you may be escorted off hotel property. You don't want to embarrass your people, do you?

Please tell your people that they are fully responsible for any and all liability claims losses, costs and expenses (including reasonable attorney's fees) for personal injury or property damage caused by you.

Your owners are responsible for the payment of any room repairs or replacements due to damage from you. They take such good care of you, please don't embarrass them.

Charges: The first pet is included in your rate. For an additional pet, a $25 non-refundable pet fee per night per pet will be added to your room charge.

We know these are a lot of rules.
We just want to make sure that everybody, two or four legs, has a good time here at Earthbox. Now have your people take you out to Jackson Beach so you can read your pee mail. Have a great stay!

— Your Earthbox staff
